MORTGAGES SOLUTIONS

Conventional Mortgages

- 30-year Fixed
- 20-year Fixed
- 15-year Fixed
- 10-year Fixed

A "fixed-rate" mortgage comes with an interest rate that won't change for the life of your home loan. A "conventional" (conforming) mortgage is a loan that conforms to established guidelines for the size of the loan and your financial situation. Conventional loans may feature lower interest rates and typically range from 10 to 30 years.

Adjustable Rate Mortgages

- 5/1 ARM
- 3/1 ARM

An adjustable-rate mortgage (ARM) is a loan in which the interest rate may change periodically, usually based upon a pre-determined index. The ARM loan may include an initial fixed-rate period that is typically 3 to 10 years. The interest rate then may change (adjust) each year thereafter once the initial fixed-rate period ends. With a 5/1 ARM loan for a 30-year term, your interest rate would be fixed for the initial 5 years and could fluctuate up or down each subsequent year for the next 25 years.
